

Gainful Employment Program Disclosure: Diploma in Anglican Studies

Educating men and women since 1878, The School of Theology at the University of the South is an intellectual center grounded in faith, Anglican heritage, and rigorous scholarship. While our mission is to prepare students effectively to pursue career and professional development in their respective fields, finding gainful employment is the individual responsibility of the student. We do not imply or guarantee that students will find employment or be placed in any particular job as a result of completing an educational program. In order to help students make informed decisions about academic choices, the University provides the following gainful employment information for all of its non-degree program offerings.
