Congregational Support Form: 2025-2026 Academic Year

Financial aid is meant to serve the church's mission by opening the way to excellent theological education to those who otherwise could not afford it, to minimize the burden of additional educational debt carried into ministry, and to limit the drain on personal assets for all students. Thanks to the gifts of many generations, Sewanee has substantial resources for these purposes and is glad to be able to offer generous financial aid to supplement seminary students' own resources along with the financial support of the congregations and dioceses that send them.

Funding a theological education is a responsibility shared between the student, the seminary, the Church, and outside partners. To that end, all ordination track students are required to submit forms indicating the financial support they are receiving from congregations and dioceses, even if that support is $0.

Please complete the following form and return it to the student in order for them to complete their financial aid application.

Payment Information

Institutions wishing to direct their support to the student via their students account should make checks payable to:

The School of Theology
University of the South
335 Tennessee Ave
Sewanee, Tennessee 37383

It is critically important that you place the student name ID number in the memo line so the funds may be directed to the appropriate account. Returning students will be able to supply you with this information. New students will be issued an ID number after they enroll.

If you need a bill for your support, please contact studentaccounts@sewanee.edu and let them know how much you plan to provide and the contact information for billing.
